630 Teachers To Visit Firms Monday

Ninety-six firms, 26 of which are in the immediate Menlo Park area, were this week completing plans for Monday's "Business-Education day" in which 630 of the area's elementary and high school teachers are to participate.

The teachers, representing elementary school districts of the Sequoia high school district area, and the high school district itself, have also completed plans for the event.

George Cleese Jr., of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, is over-all chairman for the event. Chambers of Commerce in Redwood City, Belmont, and San Carlos, as well as business firms in those areas, are cooperating in the program.

"'B-E' day is a cooperative program of the Chambers of Commerce of these cities, all participating businesses and the school agencies involved," Cleese explained yesterday, "designed to acquaint teachers more thoroughly with the facts of business.

"Teachers' experience on 'B-E' day is to supplement textbook theory with the realities of business, together with ample opportunities for direct discussion of business problems with businessmen."

PARTICIPATE

Area commercial and manufacturing agencies participating include House of Interiors; Harold Wise, planning consultant; Allstate insurancce company; Bank of America; Cleese lumber and millwork; J. C. Davenport, building contractor; Elliott and Hutchins, attorneys; First National Bank; Fraters, Realtors.

Hiller Helicopters; Peter Kump, architect; Lucelle's, women's wear; Mack, Wilson and Jorgenson, attorneys; Marquard's drive-in; Menlo Medical Center; Menlo Park Hardware company; Menlo Park Recorder, newspaper and printing; Menlo Textiles.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company; Shreve and Burgess sport shop; Standard Roofing and Construction company; Stanford Research institute; Sunset magazine publishing company; A. S. Stevens, dry goods; Van de Sande, men's clothier and Ed Zwierlein, shoe sales.

Working with the businessmen and Chambers of Commerce has been a teachers' committee headed by Nicholas Nugent, vice principal of Menlo-Atherton high school.

Lots of Fun—No Damage

Thousands of Spooks Stay Out of Trouble on Busy Halloween

Elaborate preparation for the control of Halloween prankishness by providing parties for youngsters apparently paid off this year, with Menlo Park police reporting things "very quiet."

But things weren't quiet at the several parties which the area's school children and 'teen-agers attended. About 4000 young people had fun—without being destructive.

Menlo Park police were called only twice during the night, both times by householders who were alarmed by larger groups of children congregating in the city's residential neighborhoods. Things were "quiet" in Atherton, too.

By far the largest aggregations were at the schools:

At Hillview school, where children from Hillview, Oak Knoll and Fremont schools gathered, the crowd was estimated at about 1000 youngsters, not counting parents.

At Encinal school, where a P-TA "carnival" was held in conjunction with the party, approximately 900 persons, including parents as well as children, attended, according to estimates given at the school.

About 300 St. Joseph's school pupils attended parties there, according to reports; a "good crowd," with estimates as high as 350, attended the 'teen-age dance at Burgess park gym.

Jack Farrell, Ravenswood recreation district superintendent, said he thought 1000 youngsters attended parties in his area, not counting those at an affair at the EPA American Legion hall, or at Belle Haven school.

The latter also attracted good crowds.

7 Youngsters Receive Top Honors In Annual Window-Painting Contest

Winners in the Menlo Park Lions club's annual Halloween window-painting contest were announced this week in the wake of judging last Thursday.

The winners chosen by a committee composed of Robert Coate, Mrs. J. T. Hanna and Mrs. Bonnie Heard, included Martha Sleeper, Linda Raffel and Nancy Quirk who painted the "most decorative" display at Garcelon's, 716 Santa Cruz avenue;

Best "political," at Menlo French laundry, 558 Santa Cruz avenue, painted by Lewis Lum;

"Seasonal best," at Parker and Umland, 820 Santa Cruz avenue, painted by Jerry Covey, John Wild and Sandy Walker.

Thirty-six other elementary school students—13 from Central, six from St. Joseph's, two from Encinal, five from Oak Knoll and seven from Hillview—also received prizes.

Scouters Meet Here Tonight

Last regular meeting of representatives of the several Boy Scout units of the San Mateo county Boy Scout council's "deep south" district will be held tonight at Central school, beginning at 8 p. m.

In his notice inviting all such representatives, district commissioners, committee members and members at large, District Chairman George R. Angus explained that district status an dorganization for 1953 would be discussed.

APPROVE PLANS

Menlo Park planning commission, in its capacity as a board of architectural control, Monday night approved landscape and offstreet parking plans for the American Insurance company's office, under construction in Linfield Oaks.

28 Menlo Park Stores Stay Open Thursday Nights

In an action spurred by the merchants committee of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, 28 Menlo Park merchants this week announced that, beginning tonight, they will stay open for business until 9 p. m. every Thursday.

Planned to be a year-round program, the Thursday night opening is beginning now especially for the benefit of those who wish to start their Christmas shopping early.

At least five of the 28 merchants have discarded traditional Friday-night open hours to join with the others in a unified move for the convenience of shoppers.

The 28 stores are listed elsewhere in this issue. By next week, others are expected to join in the plan.

98 Pct. Voter Turnout Is Estimate Here

Biggest news nationwide this week was the election of a new president. And the biggest news in Menlo Park also concerned the election: The number of persons casting ballots neared 100 per cent of the total of registered voters.

Authority for this statement was City Clerk Mrs. Margaret Becker, through whose hands 37 precinct election returns passed during election night and the morning after.

Some of the precincts recorded voting as high as 99 per cent, she said, estimating the average for all those handled at about 98 per cent.

As indicated by pre-election registration figures, Republicans heavily outweighed Democrats in the immediate area.

YOUNGER 2-TO-1

Though a "breakdown" by cities was not available yesterday, Mrs. Becker pointed out that this area appeared to be about 2-for-1 in favor of Republican Congressional candidate Arthur Younger against Democrat Harold Taggart, while countywide Younger was ahead 66,814 to 58,149 with 602 out of 611 precincts counted.

City "breakdown" on the presidential election was not available either, as the Recorder went to press. But, countywide, Republican Dwight Eisenhower got 81,893 and Democrat Adlai Stevenson 48,583 votes out of the 602 precincts reporting.

Mrs. Becker pointed out yesterday that all figures may be changed with the counting of absentee ballots, call for which has been heavy this year.

ALL-NIGHT JOB

The city clerk stayed at her post until 7:30 a. m. Wednesday, collecting and passing election material to county headquarters as it was received.

At the hour she went home there was still one Menlo Park precinct in which counting was not complete. That particular precinct was tabulated and figures made available at the county registrar of voter's office about 9:30 a. m.

Chest Achieves 75 Pct. of Goal

South county communities have achieved, on the average, nearly three-quarters of their quotas in the San Mateo county Community Chest's current drive.

This was revealed at a "report meeting" held last Thursday night. Next such meet will be held Nov. 12 and, officers of the county organization said yesterday, the drive for funds will continue at least that long.

Menlo Park residents have thus far contributed $17,715.80—74.4 per cent of their quota—in the chest drive. In East Palo Alto $1318.66 (60.9 per cent of quota) has been collected; in Woodside $8830.18 (74 per cent) and in Atherton $16,740.82 (72.8 per cent).

Building Permits Total $283,700

Forty-one building permits, authorizing a total of $283,700 worth of construction, were issued in Menlo Park during October.

Releasing the figures this week, Menlo Park Building Inspector J. D. Steiger compared them with figures for the same month last year. Sixty-four permits, having an aggregate value of $538,900 were issued then.

Steiger pointed out that the main difference was in single-family residence construction: only 10 new homes, having a value of $143,500, were started last month while 33 new homes, having a value of $422,500, were started during the same month last year.

Planners Preparing Recommendation for Council

Proposed Changes in Master Plan Revealed; Willow Road Controls 'Watered Down'

City Planning Consultant H. F. Wise took the wraps off some of the changes contemplated in Menlo Park's proposed master plan Monday night, revealing that some of the stricter tentative provisions for the Willow road area may be "watered down:"

1. "Commercial" zoning, under the master plan, may be allowed along the south side of the 400 block of Willow road. Previous proposals of the tentative master plan called for commercial zoning in the 700, 800 and 900 blocks only.

2. Though the north side of Willow road will not be zoned for commercial use, under contemplated provisions of the master plan, "neighborhood shopping" developments, integrated with large-scale apartment units, can be allowed.

In the latter case, however, the shopping facilities may be encouraged only if oriented away from Willow road.

Extension of the proposed commercial zone along the south side of the street was indicated with the commission recommending, under interim zoning rules, that a permit for a store building at 422 Willow road be granted.

The permit can only be allowed after plans are drawn showing adequate offstreet parking and architectural approval, however.

EXPLAINS CONCEPT

The planning commission's current concept of "neighborhood shopping" development along the north side of the thoroughfare was revealed during a long discussion concerning whether or not William Morris would be able to tear down an existing store building and build another at 395 Willow road. Permission to do so was denied.

Planning commissioners explained that, in their view, commercial development should be restricted, insofar as possible, to one side of the street.

With plans calling for widening the road and making it a traffic artery connecting Stanford lands west of Menlo Park to Bayshore highway, they said, development on both sides of the street would create "side friction" which would effectively reduce its capacity.

Wise explained that contemplated zoning calls for multiple-family use at the store site, but said that if a development of several acres was involved, some commercial use could be allowed.

This is the case in the nearby development of the lands of Berendsen, Pearson and Stafford, where a "garden apartment" development is contemplated, he explained. The latter development is one block east of Morris' property, on the north side of Willow road.

VIEWS STREETS

Morris was represented at the meeting by Frank Lee Crist, Palo Alto attorney. He pointed out that Gilbert street is a logical traffic artery for the "interior" of North Palo Alto, and said that proposed rezoning from "commercial" to "residential" classification raised a "point of equity."

Planning commissioners took the view that the property should never have been zoned for commercial use in the first place and that such use on both sides of Willow road would 'wipe out" commercial values.

"We will recommend to the city council," Wise said, "that the existing commercial development on the south side of Willow road, from Gilbert street east, be maintained.

"On the north side there will be the development on the lands of Berendsen, Pearson and Stafford. We allowed this because we felt it was not purely commercial but was, actually, integrated multi-family.

"Similar development can be allowed at Willow road and Gilbert street, provided it is integrated and essentially 'multi-family residential' in character."

LONG-RANGE VIEW

Long-range interests call for property owners "getting together" to provide such a development, Wise said, in reference to Morris' property.

In another action, the planners said that a 6-foot board fence could be allowed, under contemplated changes in the proposed zoning ordinance, between a parking lot and adjacent residential property facing Chester street. Planting between the fence and parking lot is also required.

Previously the commission had said their proposed zoning law required a masonry fence.

Board Approves New Apartments

Menlo Park city planning commissioners Monday night recommended approval, under the city's interim zoning laws, of the four new apartment units.

The "interim zoning" rule requires that all building other than single family dwellings be approved by the city council, in view of the fact that changes in the basic zoning law, under the city's proposed master plan, are contemplated.

Planning Consultant Harold F. Wise reported the new apartments conform to both present and anticipated zoning.

Units approved were:

A four-unit apartment at 1007 Florence lane;

A triplex at 328 Waverley street, Linfield Oaks;

A triplex at 485 Waverley street;

A four-unit apartment at 965 Oak lane.

Resubdivision Hearng Set

The city planning commission has set Dec. 1 as date for hearing on a proposed resubdivision of property owned by Dr. Max W. Forsythe at 194 Felton drive, at the same time noting some unique complications.

The complications stem from a requirement, set up at the insistence of the Felton Gables residents' association, that only 70 per cent of each lot's frontage be "covered" with building. Dr. Forsythe asked for a "variance" since the resubdivision, if approved, would mean an existing car port would not conform to this requirement.

The commissioners pointed out that Felton Gables is the only part of the city to have the "70 per cent" requirement, but a'so pointed out the residents' association seems always to approve such exceptions.

Dr. Forsythe produced a document signed by the association's directors, and a petition signed by 10 neighbors, saying they would not disapprove of the variance.

A long series of possible hearings could be avoided if the residents' group would reassess its policy, the planners said.

The residents' association holds an annual meeting in January.

For Better School:

Parents, School Boys Work for 2nd Sunday Refurbishing Las Lomitas School Grounds

Turning-on of a sprinkling system installed by the parents themselves at Las Lomitas school's newly-graded football and baseball field climaxed the second "work Sunday" at the school this week.

The work has included building of play facilities for kindergarten children, the grading and levelling of play fields, start of construction of an amphitheater and numerous minor projects.

Seventh and eighth grade boys were responsible for the grading and levelling of the larger field, completion of which is the largest project which has been undertaken to date.

The work is progressing in accordance with an architect's model.

Sunday's work saw completion of seeding of the lawn and installation of the sprinkler system. Other work conducted during the day included the painting of outdoor kindergarten equipment which they built the previous Sunday, assembly of two climbing ladders and the finish of a large outdoor storage closet.

HOLLOW BLOCKS

Other work at the kindergarten included the building of four sets of hollow blocks and some planting.

The amphitheater construction is going ahead in an old creekbed which runs through the grounds. When completed, the facility will be used as a scene for graduations and other outdoor festivities.

From 900 to 1000 cubic yards of dirt have been moved from the amphitheater site, and are used for "fill" around a newly-installed culvert which runs through the grounds.

A grove of trees near the site has been left standing, and the Las Lomitas P-TA hopes to complete plantings around the area.

Other planting was also done last Sunday, in the area between the two main school buildings. Don Hammarstrom supplied the plants and plans. Other "low" plantings were installed near cemented play areas.

LEADERS

Leaders of the work have been Superintendent Lawrence J. Fuller, Las Lomitas Principal Claude Norcross and Maintenance Superintendent William Holding.

Superintendent Fuller said last week that the work being done voluntarily, by the parents and school children themselves, has saved the district "hundreds of dollars."

PLANNERS APPROVE

City planning commission Monday night approved a resubdivision of property at the end of Alice lane. Doug Couch of Palo Alto was the applicant.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burlan, 1016 Hollyburne avenue are the parents of a daughter born Oct. 29 at Sequoia hospital.

VFW Auxiliary Sets Essay Contest

The women's auxiliary of Menlo Park VFW post 7145 this week announced its participation in the national organization's essay contest, in which $2000 is given annually in prizes, and added prizes of its own.

Mrs. George Lange, senior vice president of the Menlo Park unit, said that her group would set up a $10, a $7.50 and a $5 for local winners who may then compete for the national award.

The contest is to be administered through the Menlo-Atherton high school social studies department. Topic will be, "Democracy Is What We Make it" and essays must not exceed 1000 words in length.

Mrs. Lange, who is essay contest chairman here, said that March 15, 1953, is deadline for the entries.

"Though local prizes are small," she added, "the winners will have an opportunity to strive for bigger ones."

Judges have not yet been named, she adds, but it is expected that members of the community will be contacted who will serve in that capacity.

Edwin E. Neal Serves on Essex

The ship is currently in far eastern waters.

CALL FOR APPROVAL

QUIET, PLEASE!

The speeches, the arguments, the editorials are over.

We understand Dwight Eisenhower is taking a well-earned rest and Governor Stevenson is feeling relieved.

The post-election let-down has set in, and why should we be mean and keep on talking problems? There'll be enough local issues coming up to keep a furrow on the brow.

Right now we don't believe any of our readers wants a furrow—and we're only too happy to go along.

We're not going to say the obvious, "Now we must heal the breach and all pull together."

We're not going to say, "The battle is over, the hard work lies ahead."

We're just going to say, "Relax, friends. We'll see you next week."

Historical Pundit Is Laid by Ears For 'Wagon' Story

New light has been shed on the origin and career of "The Wagon," lunching facility which was removed from its berth at El Camino Real and Menlo avenue a few weeks ago, and the Recorder's Historical Pundit has been asked to set things right.

The "new light" takes the form of a statement by Mrs. Marie Damoth of Menlo Park, whose sister's brother-in-law was one of the men who arranged for the wagon's shipment to San Francisco.

That was in 1906 — not in the late 1890's, as the Historical Pundit previously had been told.

The HP had also been misinformed, Mrs. Damoth says, about how it was shipped. It was in all likelihood shipped overland, she says, not "around the horn."

At any rate,the wagon which stood for so many years in Menlo Park was one of two which arrived on the west coast shortly after the earthquake.

IN 'BIG TIME'

The one which ultimately found its way to Menlo Park served, for a time, in the vicinity of the Examiner building in downtown San Francisco; its twin is still extant, though obscured behind a larger wagon and a shoeshine stand, facing Post street, between Steiner and Fillmore streets, in San Francisco.

At any rate, the Wagon which ultimately came to Menlo Park spent a period in storage, and started its active career here on July 1, 1927.

Mrs. Damoth does not know definitely where the wagon was built. But it is similar, she says, to some operated in the vicinity of Harvard university for the benefit of students.

These new revelations somewhat alter the Historical Pundit's purview of lore concerning the Wagon, but he's still sure of one thing:

It was removed from the Menlo Park scene a few weeks ago.

Menlo Building Barometer

Two building permits, authorizing a total of $1490 worth of construction, were issued by the City of Menlo Park during the period from Oct. 28 through Oct. 31. They included:

L. E. Grider, owner; C. R. Terry, builder; new garage at 700 Hobart street; $1000.

Trinity Episcopal church, owner; Standard roofing, contractor; new roof at parish house, 1040 Laurel street; $400.

Your City's Business:

Tax Rates Are Compared

By MAYOR CHAS. P. BURGESS

Every year this column carries a comparison of the total property tax burden in Menlo Park with that of the other cities of San Mateo county.

Except for Menlo Park, Atherton and Belmont, these cities collect their own taxes for city purposes on valuations set by themselves. These valuations may vary materially from those used by the county.

In this column the city rates are adjusted for the difference in valuation practice before they are added to the county, school and special district rates to obtain the total. This adjustment is not made in most tabulations of this type, and their accuracy is impaired by this omission.

School district tax rates make up a material part of the tax load, and as Menlo Park includes a major part of the Ravenswood School District as well as the Menlo Park School District, these areas are shown separately below:

Menlo Park — North Palo Alto	$7.094
Menlo Park — Belle Haven and Suburban Park	6.874
San Mateo	6.633
South San Francisco	6.628
San Bruno	6.601
Redwood City	6.510
Burlingame	6.114

The reason for the high tax rates in North Palo Alto, Belle Haven and Suburban Park is the Ravenswood School District tax rate. This rate of $2.52 is by far the highest in the county. Las Lomitas is next highest with $1.96. Menlo Park School District's rate is $1.30. The lowest San Mateo county school district rate inside a city is San Bruno's $1.11. The low San Carlos total rate is probably due to the success of that community in obtaining industrial development.

It is unfortunate that North Palo Alto experiences its first city tax levy at a time when assessed valuation has been increased 50 per cent and the Ravenswood School District found it necessary to levy its maximum rate. Some residents will blame all the increase on the city tax.

The increase in the tax bill in North Palo Alto, however, is attributable 53 per cent to the increased school tax, 33 per cent to the city tax, and 14 per cent to other tax rate increases.

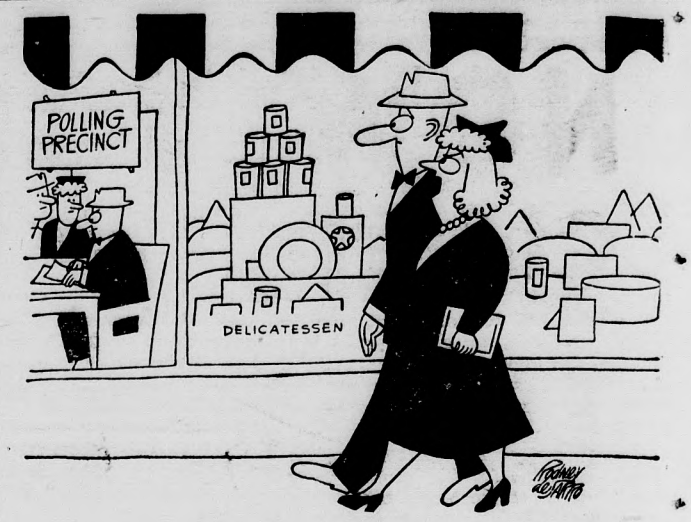

Unfortunately, withdrawal from the Ravenswood Recreation District could not be made effective until the next tax year. This tax rate is equal to 13 per cent of this year's tax increase.

While tax bills in North Palo Alto are up 30½ per cent, in Belle Haven 16½ per cent, and in Menlo Park School District 4 per cent, for most taxpayers, home owners with veterans' exemptions will find their taxes approximately doubled as a result of the increase in basis of assessed valuation.

As a result of an order of the State Board of Equalization, all property except public utilities was valued 50 per cent higher for purposes of taxation by the county assessor this year. The typical veteran's home last year was assessed at about $2000. After deducting the veterans' exemption of $1000, the owner paid taxes on $1000. With the 50 per cent increase, this home would be valued at $3000, less the veterans' exemption of $1000, so that the owner this year pays taxes on $2000 value, twice as much.

Although these facts have been widely publicized in the press, including this column, no one seems to be at all concerned until now when they are receiving their tax bills.

And now it's too late to do anything about it until next year.

Down To Earth:

Chemistry, Not Frost, Brings Autumn Color To Trees and Shrubs in Your Garden

By TERRY LEE

It is a popular misconception that frost is necessary to produce the brilliant yellows and scarlets on the foliage of many trees and shrubs.

Actually there are many examples of fall color right now in places where frost has not occurred. The poplars are bright yellow, the liquidamber red and yellow, and the apricot the loveliest shade—just like a real apricot.

It is important to understand a bit about plant biology before explaining how we have fall color without frost.

In the summer months leaves are busily engaged in the manufacture of food. Chiefly responsible for this is the chlorophyll (green coloring) in the leaves.

RAW MATERIALS

Sunlight, warm temperatures, carbon dioxide, water and oxygen must also be present.

Since the food is manufactured only in the presence of sunlight, the plant during the night translocates the major portions of this manufactured food from the leaves to the stems and roots, where it is stored for future use.

It has been proved in the laboratory that this night - time movement of food materials can only take place when night temperatures are considerably above 45 degrees. When they drop below this point, the food is "trapped" in the leaves and does not move.

This is really the crux of the whole phenomenon. When leaves start to manufacture food on a warm morning with plenty of food (chiefly sugars) still in them manufactured from the previous day, certain decomposition products are formed.

These begin to show or produce the yellow and red pigments that make autumn displays what they are.

NOT FROST

It is not the frost then, that starts this phenomenon, but merely night temperatures below 45 degrees. Often trees in a low spot will turn bright colors first. The cool air "drains" down during the night and produces low temperatures sooner than on a hillside.

Some years autumn color is unusually vivid. This occurs if there are many sunny days following some early cold nights, as we are having now.

Certain trees always turn yellow—poplars, silver birches and maples for example. The yellow pigment (carotin) is always present in leaves, but is masked by chlorophyll.

This can be shown if you put a piece of tape on a green leaf in the sun. When the tape is removed a few days later there will be a yellow spot. During cold nights when the manufactured food is not moved, the chlorophyll disintegrates and the yellow carotin shows up.

PIGMENTS

The trees that turn red, like sumacs, sassafras, and dogwood, contain a balance of red pigments (anthocyanins) that show up quickly when there is chemical decomposition in the leaf.

With so many evergreens in our area there is not the great splash of color as in the East, but the few spots of red and yellow are such a bold contrast they are all the more dazzling.

There is a great spike of yellow poplars rising above the bottle green oaks that surround the south end of Crystal springs lakes.

GARDEN CALENDAR
Week of Nov. 6

Sweet peas should be in the ground now. They like to be up 3 or 4 inches before heavy rains start. I have always had trouble keeping the birds from eating the new shoots, and this year fooled the birds by starting the seeds in plant bands and then planting the whole band when the shoots were 3 inches high—too big to suit the birds.

Several nurseries sell sweet peas this way.

• • • •

Keep watering your chrysanthemums while they are in bloom and you will extend their flowering time by a week or more.

There is no flower that lasts better in the house, and all they require is fresh water every few days.

Pull off the lower leaves, as they get slimy in water.

In picking, I snap them rather than cut the flowers, and put them in deep, cool water an hour before arranging them.

They seem to look best in pottery, bronze or copper holders.

• • • •

The true daisy of history is the English daisy (Bellis perennis) and it can be planted now for April bloom. Tight little balls of double daisy-like flowers open above neat tufts of green foliage.

The colors are white and pink, occasionally deep rose.

They are charming along the edge of a bulb planting or flower bed, or rock garden.

• • • •

When the foliage on gladiolus has turned yellow, the corms can be dug and their tops chopped off to two or three-inch stubs. Let the corms dry in a cool, shaded spot and roll them in DDT (to kill thrips) before storing them in bags in a dry place.

Garden Club Meet

"Christmas floral arrangements" will be the subject of a demonstration, sponsored by the Menlo Park Garden club, Nov. 12 at the yellow room of the Menlo Park city council chambers building, civic center.

Mae McGinnis, garden club member and membership chairman of the California Garden club's San Mateo county unit, will be the demonstrator. Owing to lack of space, attendance is limited to the garden club membership. Time is 1:30 p. m.

Processing Plant

City planners Monday night granted a use permit for operation of a food shortening processing plant at 560 Derry lane.

The permit, which may be revoked if the use proves "obnoxious," was granted to Norman F. Johnston of Los Altos. Purpose of the operation is to add a food preservative to shortenings, he said.

Rec Department's 'Teen Club Prepares Lounge at Burgess Gym; Set Next Dance

The Menlo Park recreation department - sponsored 'teen - agers' club is to move its activities to Burgess park gym tomorrow night, with the opening of a new 'teen-agers' lounge there concurrent with the organization's weekly dance.

Scene of the weekly dances, too, is being shifted. Formerly held at city council chambers building, they will henceforth be held at the gym.

The soon-to-be-opened lounge is the gym's former wrestling room, situated on a mezzanine overlooking the ease end of the gym.

"Teen-agers, aided by contributions of the Menlo Park Lions club, have been refurbishing the area and collecting furnishings during the past several weeks.

Thus far the service club has contributed a rug, a sofa and some chairs; members of the 'teen club have also contributed a sofa and other individual pieces of furniture.

Joyce Hanley, publicity chairman for the group, said yesterday that collections of furnishings are continuing, adding that one of the members of the group hopes, in the near future, to provide a radio-phonograph.

TABLE GAMES

A ping-pong table has also been installed in the lounge and, Miss Hanley added, a pool table may also become available.

The 'teen club lounge, once it gets into operation, will be open on week day afternoons, besides Friday nights. Entrance will be by membership card only, during the afternoon sessions.

At present the club has more than 750 members, most of whom bring guests to the weekly dances.

With the expansion of facilities, possible membership may be expanded.

Nobody Injured

Autos driven by Robert Lawrence Ridolfi, 33, of Redwood City and Yoshio Kume, 789 Santa Cruz avenue, were damaged in a minor accident last Saturday on Crane street near Santa Cruz avenue, police report.

The mishap apparently occurred as Kume started to back out of a parking space as Ridolfi began driving out of an adjacent alley.

Cars Towed Away From Accident

Cars driven by Joseph Del Pozzo, 17, 715 Central avenue, Menlo Park an Don V. Blosser, 34, of Palo Alto, were towed from the scene following a "rear end" collision at El Camino Real and Harvard avenue Saturday evening.

Neither driver, however, was injured.

According to police reports, the mishap occurred when Del Pozzo, northbound, stopped to make a left turn. The second auto apparently ran into the rear of his car.

The accident, which occurred at 8:05 p. m., produced no citations.

Even with Injuries:

MAHS Varsity Seeks 3rd Straight Win

By DENNIS ANDERSON

Finally on the victory path after opening the season with three consecutive setbacks, Menlo-Atherton high school's Varsity football team will be seeking its third straight win tomorrow afternoon at Jefferson.

Coaches Howard Costello and Don Derfmeier guided the locals to their second in a row last Friday at Capuchino, engineering a 26-6 decision after having shut out San Jose Tech 19-0 in a non-league game the previous Friday.

Jefferson, although having only a 1-4 season record as compared with M-A's 2-3, will be the toughest eleven that the locals have run up against since South San Francisco.

The Daly City aggregation opened the season by bowing to a Santa Clara Valley Athletic league school, just as M-A did. Jefferson was edged by a strong Mountain View team, 20-13, on a long teedee run in the final minutes.

Riordan high school of San Francisco caught the Jeffs off-guard and spilled them by a 18-0 count and then Burlingame, one of the PAL's five toughest clubs, had trouble garnering a 21-14 decision. In their fourth game, the Jeffs limited San Mateo's high powered offense to two scores and lost, 14-0.

SMASH PALO ALTO

But all of that competition against tough teams had apparently helped the Indians for they completely obliterated Palo Alto, the PAL's defending champion, last week by a 40-20 score. And any team that can hang 40 points on the scoreboard during a 48-minute game has got to be reckoned with.

Injuries, which have hurt the locals all season, just as they slowed M-A's junior varsity eleven in 1951, will be felt at the Jefferson game.

Don Stansfield, rapidly developing into Menlo-Atherton's hardest tackler and the locals' hardest runner as well, suffered an arm injury against Capuchino and may be through for the remainder of the campaign.

Safetyman and offensive left halfback Jim O'Neal bruised his ankle and should be ready by Friday as should defensive guard Don Meeks, who sprained an arm in the first play of last Friday's tilt.

Right halfback Jim (Jumbo) Cabaniss, out all of the San Jose Tech game and a portion of the Capuchino contest due to an ankle sprain, will be ready to go.

Right tackle Stan Bowman, who sat out the Tech game with a broken hand, but played against Capuchino with a sponge rubber covering the cast, will be set for Jefferson. Although the cast is off, Bowman cannot take part in any contact work during this week.

Although M-A is most certainly not in its best physical condition of the campaign, the Bears will not be a pushover.

The only other threatening injury besides that of Stansfield's is a bad hip pointer that is hindering center Jim Fernandez. Fernandez bruised his hip badly in blocking practice last Wednesday and was out of Thursday's drill. He suited up Friday, but aggravated the bruise during the pre-game warm-up and was unable to play.

If he can't go tomorrow, it will seriously weaken the middle of the M-A line, as Stansfield is the middle linebacker on defense and Fernandez is noted as one of the league's toughest middle guards.

Help has been received, however, as end Larry Sterling, a transfer man from Sequoia, joined the club in time to operate defensively against Capuchino.

Sterling was not affected by the rule that took halfbacks Dick D'Oliva and Bob Shillaker, fullback Joe O'Halloran and guard Jack Fisher out of action earlier this season because Sequoia is located in the same district as Menlo-Atherton.

STARTERS

Either Dan Varty or Jack Demorest will open at offensive quarterback, while the left spot is uncertain. Stansfield is definitely out and O'Neal may be slowed by his ankle, which would leave Dave Easley, Bob Andrade and Phil Knight as the locals' left halfs. Unless O'Neal has further trouble with his ankle, however, he will probably get the starting nod.

Either Cabaniss or Dick (Yogi) Jorgensen will open at offensive right halfback while Allen (the Bull) Feinstien, M-A's hardest running back, will operate at fullback.

Defensive changes will have Sterling and speedy Jack Wymer at the ends, Arlo Thornhill at one tackle probably, Meeks and possibly Ricky Davidson at guards, Bob Brewer and Bruce McAllister alternating at one linebacker post, with sophomore Troy Ratliff at the other, and Demorest operating in the defensive backfield.

Others who will see heavy action are Bill Gibbs, M-A's 195-pound pass-throwing fullback, Pete Ciardella and Jerry Demma at defensive end, Frank Hinds and Jerry Daugherty at offensive ends, and John Raventos will see a good deal of action at tackle, either offensively or defensively.

The Jefferson game was originally slated for the Sequoia turf, but Coach Buck Devine's Cherokees are playing at Terremere field tomorrow so the M-A game was switched to Jefferson. The kickoff is slated for 2:45 p. m.

Strong Teams Begin to Emerge In 'Touch' Loop

Menlo Park Elementary School District touch football league teams continued their evenly - matched games at Nealon park last Friday, with only two emerging as possible "powerhouses" as the four-division loop neared the half of its schedule.

The teams with the definitely dangerous look are the Hillview A's, who downed the single opponent they have faced thus far by a 34-0 score and the Encinal D team, which shut out two opponents by two touchdowns thus far.

Generally, however, all teams have continued even: On Friday, the Encinal C's shut out their Oak Knoll counterparts, 7-0; the Encinal D's beat the Fremont (2) team 13-0; Hillview C's lost to Central 6-2 and the Hillview D's won 15-6 over Central.

Games are played on two fields at Nealon park; games start at 3:45 p. m. and 4:35 p. m. The program is sponsored jointly by the school district and the city recreation department.

City Rec Director Fred Parsons once again reiterated his invitation: All who wish to see the games are cordially invited to attend.

George Palasin Feted on Leave

George Palisin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Palasin of 178 Stanford avenue, was home last weekend following completion of army recruit training at Fort Ord. He has been in the service since Sept. 8.

A graduate of St. Joseph's school in Menlo Park and Serra high school in San Mateo, George was feted with a dinner at his parents' home Sunday evening, after which he returned to Fort Ord.

It was erroneously reported in last week's Recorder that George was a member of the US navy.

Folk Dance Group Gets Name, Schedules Dance

From a list of about 50 suggested names, the title "Men-Los Amigos" was voted the most appropriate name for the advanced folk dance class sponsored by the Menlo Park Recreation department. The name was submitted by George Cooper, a Menlo Park resident.

In honor of the new name, a Latin-American theme will be the motif for the group's monthly party to be held at Burgess gym on Saturday, Nov. 8, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

The exhibition numbers will feature dances from Panama, Mexico, and Spain. Presenting these numbers will be Grace Perryman and her San Francisco folk arts group, Madelyne Greene of the Festival Workshop, and Virgil Morton, who is teacher and director of the Men-Los Amigos folk dancers.

Advanced folk dancing of all nations will be open to the general public.

Catering Service Is Open Here

A "one stop" catering service designed to provide anything from a babysitter to food for 2000 persons, is the aim of "The Party Givers," a newly-opened facility at 801 El Camino Real.

Proprietors of the service are Ollie Fickes, Ann Gilberg and G. Peter Podany. Mrs. Fickes and Mrs. Gilberg have been in business here since 1939; Podany, who is Mrs. Fickes' nephew, has had five years' experience as a caterer in New York. This is his first business venture in this state.

The service will specialize as wedding consultants and in providing food and entertainment for wedding receptions. It will be able to provide musicians, lecturers, magicians and other entertainers.

On hand as "stock in trade" will be a selection of glassware and dishes large and varied enough, according to the proprietors, to meet any contingency.

Mrs. Gilberg and Mrs. Fickes have combined talents in business here during previous years. They operated the Golden Churn fountain-restaurant here from 1939 to 1945 and were co-proprietors of "The Pantry" delicatessen from 1945 to 1947.

After that time, Mrs. Fickes operated the dining room at the Marie Antoinette hotel until 1951; Mrs. Gilberg opened Ann's coffee shop. Mrs. Fickes retired from business, temporarily, in 1951.

Truck Terminal Re-opening Denied

The Highway Transport company's former truck terminal can't be re-established at a building at Henderson avenue and Bayshore highway, even if the building is intermittently in use.

This was decided by the Menlo Park planning commission this week as the board officially noted that the structure is now being used as a scene for cleaning and packing gladiolus bulbs.

The planners took "official note" of the use and said it was sufficiently unlike any trucking operation to maintain validity of a use permit for the latter.

According to the commission, the gladiolus bulb-cleaning could be tolerated, since the renter, A. R. Azzara of Palo Alto, intends to use the building less than a month.

City zoning ordinances say "cleaning and dyeing" establishments may be operated in commercial zones.

Operations at the terminal building were subject of considerable debate earlier this year, when the transport company sought to reestablish operations there.

Atherton Women Attend Meeting

Mrs. Carl Ludwig Hansen and Mrs. Laverne Hutchinson, both of Atherton, were among south county residents who, last week heard Dr. Hans A. Hecht, professor of medicine at the University of Utah, conduct a symposium on "Heart Disease."

The symposium was presented jointly by the San Francisco and San Mateo county Heart associations, in San Francisco.

Dr. Hecht pointed out that the average family is more likely to have its collective happiness destroyed by heart disease than by the atomic bomb, and explained operation of the newly-developed electrocardiograph for diagnosing heart ailments.

Other speakers at the session included Dr. Sidney Burwell, research professor of clinical medicine at Harvard; Dr. Julius Comroe Jr., Nniversity of Pennsylvania and Dr. Richard McLaughlin, president of the San Mateo county Heart association.

MP Kindergartens Are Near Capacity

Menlo Park Elementary School District's kindergartens have room for everybody now enrolled, District Superintendent Mel Homfeld said this week, but they have very little left over.

About 235 are now enrolled in the district's pre-first-grade groups, Homfeld said. This leaves room only for transfers, and most of these would have to be at Oak Knoll school's afternoon session.

The school district does not take new registrants in midyear, the superintendent added.

Peter Caballero In Art School

Indicate Most MAHS Grads in College

About 53 per cent of Menlo-Atherton high school's 1952 graduates have asked that transcripts of their grades be sent to colleges and universities, figures released by the Sequoia High School District reveal.

The total number of such requests indicates that more graduates than originally intended are continuing their educations. A survey made last June showed that only 40 per cent — 57 — of the 144 members of the graduating class had definite plans for college.

However, in recent months, a total of 77 members of the class of '52 have called for their transcripts.

San Jose State college attracted the largest number, with 29 graduates requesting that transcripts be sent there. A total of 13 transcripts were sent to Stanford, 10 to San Mateo junior college and nine to University of California at Berkeley.

Some students were not sure where they wished to go and asked that transcripts be sent to more than one school.

Police in Training Course Here

A two-weeks' training course for new members of south San Mateo county police departments and the San Mateo county sheriff's office is now in progress at the Menlo Park civic center.

Under the auspices of the San Mateo county police executives association the recent recruits—about 25 in all— are studying laws of arrest, police procedure, traffic safety, and other problems.

Menlo Park Police Chief George Potter revealed that the work, which began on Monday, will continue for two weeks. There are three-hour daytime and night sessions.

Instruction is by members of the FBI and representatives of the county district attorney's office.

NEW MEMBER

Latest member of the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Gill, 700 Middle avenue, is a daughter born Oct. 29.

'Apartment' Unit Gets Official Okay

A use permit for a contemplated 27-unit "garden apartment" facing Willow road, adpacent to the Menlo Park veterans' hospital, was approved by the city planning commission Monday night, with members assuring themselves that the facility will not become a "motel."

The permit for the $175,000 development, on lands of Berendsen, Pearson and Stafford, had previously been delayed as the planning commission and city discussed wording of the use permit.

As finally adopted the use permit states definitely that a "motel" or "hotel" use will not be permitted and adds that all signs for the development will be subject to architectural control.

NEWLYWED MR. AND MRS. NELSON, JR.

Newlywed Martin Nelsons Jr. Return from Bass Lake Trip

An Alto lane home off Creek drive awaits newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jarvell Nelson Jr., now returned from their week's honeymoon to Bass Lake.

The young couple were married last month in a ceremony held in front of the flowerbanked fireplace of the Allied Arts guild tea room. The Rev. Donald Poston from the First Christian church of Palo Alto performed the 7:30 p. m. rites.

The bride was formerly Violette Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Owens, who make their home near the Guild in Menlo Park. Martin is the son of the senior Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of Atherton, and is to begin the woodworking business with his father here.

For the ceremony, Violette chose a white lace dress fashioned over a petticoat of ice blue. Her sole attendant was Ardis Jones, who traveled all the way from Minnesota to take part in the wedding. Ardis, too, was gowned in pale blue.

As best man the bridegroom had his brother Jack, home for the event from his station with the navy in San Diego.

The bride, a native of Minnesota, came to this area four years ago with her family, and was graduated from Sequia high school. Her husband has just completed a four-year "hitch" with the navy.

Following the wedding, guests were invited to stay for the reception, also held at the Allied Arts guild.

TEENAGE TALK....

By MELINDA PERCY

There is something about Halloween that urges everyone to have a party, and this year, especially in the Menlo-Atherton area, was no exception. Nine parties that we heard of and possibly many more were given last weekend!

To begin with, we'll tell you about a double birthday party given by Joanne Brown and Sandy Fickes, who rented a local dance studio to hold a dance in. Novel idea, isn't it?

Present were Joanne, Brad Stieger, Sandy, Jim Williams, Della Hurlbut, Alan Stanford, Margaret Goodlive, Amorette Ott, Roger Nugent, Dee Dales, Brenda Biggs, Don George, Margie Fitzmaurice, Bill Wilkins, Carol Tuft, Bill Douglas, Nancy Walsh, John Yarborough, Sally Sotton, Bob Paxton, Ann Dunlway, Harry Holden, Nancy Alexander and Dick Gilbert.

After the dance, Margaret Goodlive had a slumber party at her home for the girls.

Now we come to one of the many get-togethers which featured a scavenger hunt. Emily Arnold held a party at her home, with the guests coming back after the hunt for eats and dancing. Carol Boorman, Don McLean, Berkeley Johnston and Sanny Loofbourow took the prize as the top scavanger hunters.

Also present were Kirby Wilkins, Julie Harrington, Rick Searles, Jolly Hospers, Jim Fernandez, Sue Stolp, Pete Brock, Mardy Keyes, Dave Easley, Barbara Clarke, Bill DeLu and Jan Heter.

* * * *

Dancing on the patio, eating, swimming and then dancing some more were all enjoyed by Lynn Williamson's guests Saturday night.

They included King Graham, Anne DeLu, Kiyosho Toy, Mary Healy, Wally Baker, Page Godbe, Pete Welch, Emily Arnold, Kirby Wilkins, Barbara Clarke, Bill DeLu, Jeanne Peasley, Ron Williams, Sally Mixter and Bill Pitsker.

Our old standby—a slumber party—was held at Ann Arnold's home Friday evening. The gals played games, ate and told fortunes and ghost stories. Speaking of ghost stories, what could be more fun on Halloween?

Ann's friends included Shirley Caletti, Carol Hampton, Paula Lawson, Pat Barr, Carolyn Johnson and Leona Irving.

* * * *

Ever been to a "hard times" party where the guests come in the oldest and most ragged clothes they can find? It's a lot of fun and if you don't believe us, ask Beth Rahe because she gave one Saturday night.

The 'teeners also went on a scavenger hunt with Bev Wolfe and Bob Erving emerging the victors; their prize was the impressive array of "good-for-nothing" articles they had to ring doorbells for.

Also present were Wesley Day, Jo Kaar, Steve Graham, Audrey Rhoadeh, Bob Reginato, Stew Graham, Connie Stelmach, Bob Erving, Stan Bowman, Bev Wolfe, Rosalie Abreu, Dell Boccigogne, Charlotte Farley, Sherman Skillman, Barbara Long, Ron Collingham, Joanie Stoy, Georgielee Gayer, Stan Skeil, Jim Forrest, Ricky Davidson, Marty Wright, Phyllis Irby, Ellen Fitzsimmons, Stan Spiegle and Diana Brown.

* * * *

The teenage group and their guests played games appropriate to the occasion, ate, and in general, had a "swell time."

Present were Janet Lindeman, Jo-an Brostrom, Ron Netsell, JoAnn Rainwater, Jean Tootch, John Adams, Ordetta Bechtel, Jane Bell, Mariel Raeen, Sharon Forcier, Ed Forcier and Phyllis Watson. Credit for the wonderful decorations go to Barbara Kleiner and Sharon Hutchinson.

Everything from flappers to Chinamen and farmers were seen at Mary Williams' home Friday evening. Also included in the fun were dancing and box lunches brought by the femmes.

* * * *

When John Bugna had a party last weekend and the guests were sent on yet another scavenger hunt, four future track stars at Menlo-Atherton were discovered.

John gave the couples 40 minutes to return with all their "loot," but the team of Bill Gibbs, Barbara Nearon, Nan Babb and Gordon Head came back with everything in 10 minutes!

Others present included Don George, Brenda Biggs, Horace Siino, Sue Clark, Brad Stieger, Teddy Grindle, Bob Davis, Sylvia Gibbons, Mike Stone and Eleanor Loveroff.

After returning to Menlo Park, John, Audrey Rhoades, Tom Fitch, Diana Brown, Stan Spiegle, Ellen Fitzsimmons, Stan Skeil, Georgia Lee Gayer, Stan Bowman, Beth Rahe, Wesley Day, Connie Stelmach, Tom Schmidt, Willene O'Connor, Jim Forrest, Joannie Stoy, Sherman Skillman and Charlotte Farley gathered at Beth's home for more fun.

* * * *

"The play's the thing" at the Sacred Heart Convent in MP this month, as the girls are putting their talents together to present "Little Women," November 9 and 12.

Members of the cast include Gwen Patrick, Adrienne Pauly, Pat Desimone, Nancy Keeshan, Kathy Keough, Deon Stenzel, Kathy Dougherty, Mary Ann Lorenz, Sue Nerney, Gail Derry, Jean Orr and Trudy Crampton, among others.

A gay costume party was held Friday night at Paula Pace's home with the guests also going on that popular scavenger hunt. Dancing and refreshments completed the evening for Yvonne Angelo, Judy Walker, Clarrise Watkins, Ginger McCoy, Joanne Elliott, Alyce Mae Cleland, Sue Severin, Jo Sanford, Marilyn Menzin, Glenda Spear, Pat McLane, Glenn McManus, Dave Sundquist, Charlie Martin, Dan Varty, Ken Whitcomb, Earl Johnson, Bill Mills Allan Fienstein, Fred Meyers, Joe O'Halloran, Bim Beckman, Bill Christie, Adrian Joseph and Dick Wiskstrom.

The affair is to take place at the Peninsula country club, and is expected to draw a large contingent of members, many of whom are bringing as guests couples from other dental groups.

A cocktail hour will precede the prime rib dinner, which is slated to start at 9 p. m.

Yesterday a meeting of committees in charge of decorations and dinner arrangements was held at the club and was attended by Mrs. Stanton Burns of Menlo Park and Mrs. Norman Snyder of Atherton.

Ted Uppman To Appear Sun. In Re-Telecast of "Billy Budd"

The theater spotlights, the opera glasses and finally, two weeks ago, the television camera have come to focus their critical eyes upon a young man who grew up in this area and was schooled in greasepaint, Theodor Uppman.

THEODOR AS BILLY BUDD

Theodor—or Ted—began "headlining" last year when he appeared in Covent Gardens, London as the lead in Benjamin Britten's newest opera, "Billie Budd." The production, based on a tale by Herman Melville, scored a hit in England and later, another in New York.

The East Coast performance, however, was a television broadcast of a condensed version of the original opera, still casting Ted Uppman as Billy Budd. This same telecast has been scheduled for a showing in San Francisco on Sunday, November 9, from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. over KRON.

Applause from New York was immediate. The "Times" critic there wrote:

". . . casting of the opera was excellent and there was no weak spot. One speaks especially of Theodor Uppman's Billy Budd, admirably acted and sung with experience and authority of the singer who created this role at the first London performance. . . ."

Ted, son of Menlo Park resident John Uppman, attended Palo Alto high school, where his proclivity toward music first began to show. Upon graduation, he spent one year at College of Pacific, and was then awarded a two years' scholarship to the Curtis school of Music in Philadelphia.

While doing work at Stanford university, the young singer was given a $2000 Atwater Kent audition, and from then on continued his work in the theater.

It has been in the past two years, though, that Ted's upward struggle has really paid off in recognition. Last September he sang in the Hollywood bowl, and recently his portrait and "profile" appeared in several magazines, notably in the "young artist" sections of both "Mademoiselle" and "Harper's Bazaar."

Local admirers of the singer include two sisters, two brothers and a sister-in-law from Menlo Park, as well as his father. His sisters are Mrs. Samson (Elsa) Knoll and Miss Ingegerd Uppman; his brothers are Carl and John Uppman and his sister-in-law, sister of his wife, the former Jean Seward from Palo Alto, is Mrs. David Botsford.

Belle Haven P-T Drive Goes 'Way Over the Top

There is good news at Belle Haven school. According to the P-TA's membership chairman, Mrs. Elroy Holtman, 91 per cent of all families with children at BH school have paid up memberships in the parent-teacher association.

Figures from the recent drive show that 530 parents in all have paid their one dollar fee into the P-TA treasury; this total is 130 more than was expected from the 537 families with Belle Haven schoolchildren.

Winners of the membership drive first and second prizes were Mrs. Welsh's third grade and Miss Larson's class, the latter's bringing in the most fathers. In toto, there were 11 rooms at the school obtaining 100 per cent P-TA membership.

Area Cancer Chairmen Gather in Atherton

Problems of publicity and campaign organization were discussed recently, when area chairmen and local leaders of the county Cancer society met at the Atherton home of Mrs. Porter Sesnon, district ACS head.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Sesnon hosted her guests at a buffet luncheon. Attending the session were the following local women:

Mrs. David Bluford from Menlo Park; Mrs. Donald Walker from East Palo Alto; Mrs. W. H. Boren, Mrs. Gilbert Blackmore, Mrs. Ralph Nelson and Mrs. Wesley Wright from Atherton; Mrs. Heber Tilden from Woodside and Mrs. J. C. Allen from La Honda area.

. ACS county commander, Mrs. Roland Tognazzini, was also on hand.

MAHS P-TA Meets Tonight

Tonight marks the second P-TA meeting of the fall year for Menlo-Atherton high school. The session will be held at 8 p. m. in the school's multi-purpose room.

By way of innovation, parents will be seated around a raised platform seating three representatives of the school and one P-TA representative. The four men will lead an audience-participation discussion concerning M-A's counseling service.

"Delegates" for the high school will be S. S. Mayo, principal; Robert Finley and Shepard Insel, with Wallace Ott, vice president of the P-TA holding up that end. The roundtable hopes to emphasize the part in counseling taken by deans, nurses and teachers, as well as by the counselors.

Slendermaids Plan Special Meeting For November 17

What looks to be soon a duly-registered organization is the Slendermaids, the group of local ladies who have bonded together for a serious pupose, that of reducing.

In line with their program of medically-directed dieting and official advice, the Slendermaids have secured the services of Miss Irene de Sarmo from the county health and welfare department. Miss de Sarmo will address the women on Monday, November 17, 7:30 p. m. at 165 Park avenue, San Carlos.

Anyone interested in attending that meeting is urged to call Mrs. Maxine Roy, DA 5-2614.

Selby Lane P-TA At Meet Last Night

Members of Selby Lane P-TA met last night to hear the second in a series of talks on child development through the arts at home. Speaker for the evening was Robert Putnam from Stanford, who has appeared on several local radio programs.

Putnam explained through readings and discussion how speech art in family life has an important place.

The first lecture in the series was given by DWr. Ruth W. Kokjer, psychologist for county schools, and dealt with seriousness of family-unity. Following a film on that subject, parents joined in an open discussion.

Local Horses, Owners 'Take Over' Cow Palace

South county residents' continuing interest in horsemanship is being indicated these days at the Cow Palace in South San Francisco, where 15 Menlo Park, Atherton and Woodside men and women have entered steeds in the horse show, currently a part of the Grand National livestock exhibition.

The exhibition, of which the horse show is a part, opened October 31 and will continue through November 9.

The locals who have entries in the more purely equine part of the show include, from Atherton, Mary Browne, Harriet Capers, Ann Davis, Mrs. Franklin Downton, Anne and Virginia Giannini, Marie Jo Jepson, Mrs. Ernest H. Sultan and Carol Ramsay.

Menlo Park is represented in the show by horses stabled by Pat Carnevala, and Pat Duffy, and Woodside is represented by chargers entered by Matilda Prior Andrews II, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Elkus and Sally Grover.

Police 'Break' Egg Case, Arrest Youths

Two Menlo Park area 'teenagers were arrested here early Saturday for the theft of $150 worth of butter and eggs from a truck at the Golden State creamery offices facing Willow road. The theft itself occurred last Thursday.

The eggs, about 70 dozen of them, have been recovered and were being held at the Menlo Park police station early this week.

Since the truck from which the dairy products were taken was unlocked, the appropriation was classified as petty theft, rather than burglary.

First "break" in the egg case came at 3 a. m. Saturday, when Officer Gilbert Pipkin, patrolling along Willow road, found a carton of eggs on the street. Apparently the two youths had left a few cartons in their car following the theft, police say, and were throwing them out.

Checking further, Pipkin stopped a car in which two 'teenagers were riding, in Belle Haven. The officer stopped them to find out what they were doing abroad at that hour, but when he looked in their auto he spotted more eggs.

The boys, both 16, were then arrested and taken to Hillcrest.

Later in the morning the police investigated at their homes, and found most of the remaining eggs.

One of the boys resides in Menlo Park and the other lives in the North Fair Oaks area. Both have been "in trouble" before, according to police chief George Potter.

Inspector William Keiler said yesterday that subsequent interviews with the suspects indicated they were also implicated in a recent burglary at Menlo Motors used car
